

Q1 2024 Healthcare Services M&A Activity

- In Q1 2024, U.S. healthcare services M&A volume reached 174 transactions, representing a 10.8% decrease from the same quarter in 2023.
- Although the number of physician medical group transactions declined compared to Q1 of last year, from a volume perspective, it was the 2nd largest segment in Q1 2024. The physician services sector has seen continued consolidation with smaller add-on deals instead of larger platform transactions.
- The healthcare services industry continues to have an increased emphasis on outpatient care, driven by increased cost effectiveness for providers and patients, greater specialization, and a focus on prevention and early intervention.
- Despite challenging operating conditions such as staffing shortages and increased regulatory scrutiny, we see the pace of M&A activity picking up due to anticipated interest rate decreases and increasing public company valuations.
